strangelove says:

...There's always a deep breath before a plunge into the deadofnight. Deadofnight empowers its devotees to take risks and dive into their desires. It is imbued with the seductive power of oudh, a precious aromatic wood resin. Coveted, rare, and requiring careful precision to source sustainably, oudh has been prized for centuries for its deeply complex scent and aphrodisiac effect. This compelling fragrance is balanced with the serenity of Damask rose, natural violet leaves, vanilla balsam, and the nuanced warmth of sandalwood, amber and musk. The result is an addictive potion with a lingering sensuality. The first fragrance created by strangelove, deadofnight is adored, sparking intrigue amongst all who experience it. After five years of perfecting its perfumes, strangelove nyc launched in 2013 with its debut scent, deadofnight – an aroma that's meant to truly stimulate your senses. The rare oudh base is sourced from the agarwood trees of Southeast Asia and blended with warm sandalwood complemented so nicely by rich, floral accords of damask rose, natural violet leaves and vanilla balsam.
